Introduction

On behalf of the Board of Directors of Central Carers Association, I am pleased to present the Annual Report for the financial year 2014-15 and at the same time introduce the new branding for The Princess Royal Trust Carers Centre (Falkirk & Clackmannanshire), now to be known as Falkirk and Clackmannanshire Carers Centre. The re-branding was the result of a process involving local carers, staff, board members and professionals we work with and the final design is a bright and modern new logo and strapline – Inform | Support | Involve. These were the keywords used by the people who use our service and who work with us when asked to describe what the Carers Centre means to them. In this report, you will see examples of how the Carers Centre has informed, supported and involved carers throughout the year.

I would like to thank everyone in the organisation – Board members, management team, staff team and volunteers – for the contribution they have made over the year to the work of the organisation.

Manager’s Report

As ever, this has been a busy year at the Carers Centre which has seen the number of adult and young carers we support steadily increasing. Over the last 5 years, the number of new adult carers accessing support each year has grown from 263 to 928. This is partly due to the success of the projects funded by the Reshaping Care for Older People’s Change Fund that have allowed us to: identify and support carers at the local community hospitals when the person they’re caring for is discharged from hospital, or is at risk of being admitted to hospital; provide a programme of Care with Confidence sessions for carers in their own communities; develop personalised Carer Support Plans to help carers achieve the outcomes that are important to them; and provide opportunities for carers to have their say on local and national issues for carers.

This funding ends in March 2015, however, we are hopeful that we will be able to extend the reach of the projects to include all adult carers using new funding provided by the Scottish Government to implement the integration of health and social care.

Continued funding through the Scottish Government’s Autism Strategy has also allowed us to provide dedicated one to one and group support to adults who are caring for someone with autism and young carers who have a sibling with autism.

The following report provides an insight into the work carried out by the dedicated staff and volunteers at the Carers Centre over the last year and I would like to take this opportunity to thank them.

Central Carers Association seeks to ensure that carers of all ages in Falkirk district and Clackmannanshire are recognised and valued, receive the information and support they need to allow them to care with confidence and in good health, and are empowered to have a life of their own outside caring.

Carers told us that, as a result of their involvement with the Carers Centre:

- their health and wellbeing had improved
- they felt more confident in their caring role
- they were more able to pursue a life outside caring - work, education and leisure
- their financial situation had improved
- they were able to ‘have their say’ and have their views taken into account

Case Studies

The following case studies help to illustrate the outcomes achieved by carers as a result of accessing support from the Carers Centre:

Jane

Jane’s husband was admitted to Forth Valley Royal Hospital after suffering a stroke. She was referred to the Carer Support Worker based at Falkirk Community Hospital who visited her at home. During the visit they discussed the impact of becoming a carer, combining caring for her husband with her part-time job, and the support services that were available for her and her husband. Together they developed a Carer Support Plan to help Jane achieve the outcomes that were important to her.

The Carer Support Worker accompanied Jane to her husband’s discharge planning meeting and afterwards they discussed some of the points raised.

Once Jane’s husband was home, the Carer Support Worker visited them and helped them apply for Attendance Allowance, a blue badge and arranged an assessment for self-directed support.

The Carer Support Worker kept in contact in the months following discharge and made sure Jane was aware that the Carers Centre was available for any future support she required. When they reviewed Jane’s Carer Support Plan, she reported that, as a result of the input from the Carer Support Worker she is now more confident in her caring role. She also stated that she feels her emotional and financial wellbeing are better than they would have been if she had not received the support of her Carer Support Worker.

Eilidh

Eilidh is 14 years old and is a young carer whose brother has autism. Over the last year, Eilidh has been attending the secondary girls’ Sibling Group consisting of 8 girls who have a sibling on the autistic spectrum. Prior to attending the Sibling Group, Eilidh’s relationship with her brother was very poor and she felt like she was the only one who had a brother like hers.

The young carers participated in activities such as making a sibling book which allowed them to express their own feelings about having a sibling with autism and share this with the others in the group, making them feel less alone.

The group also provides the young carers with a break from their caring role where they don’t have to talk about autism and can have fun. In the past year, activities included pampering sessions and going out to dinner.

Eilidh also participated in the sibling drama group, which included acting exercises, script writing and producing a drama video aimed at helping to raise awareness of autism and the issues faced by young carers who have a sibling with autism.

Eilidh enjoys the group – she feels her confidence has been improved by attending the drama group. When asked to describe the group Eilidh said it was “a break”.

Mum has reported that she feels the group has been very good for her daughter as she gets to share her experience and has the opportunity to let off steam about how she feels. She feels her daughter has become more confident and more able to speak about autism.
Treasurer’s Remarks

The formal Annual Accounts refer in one section to the achievements and performance of the organisation. The ever increasing number of new carers each year continues to reflect the growing range of services we provide, resulting from the organisation identifying the availability of new funding streams and achieving success in funding applications. Much of the new funding is made available by Scottish Government in recognition of the role carers fulfil in health and social care in the country.

Carer Information Strategy funding continued into a 7th year with a clear indication that plans are to provide funds for an 8th year. Again this ensures continuing support and the further widening of awareness of the needs of the ever increasing number of carers identified.

The need for respite breaks, clearly identified as crucial to the continuing role carers undertake, is now widely recognised. Short Break funding streams once again provided funds to meet popular and much needed respite opportunities.

Autism development funding, unfortunately coming to an end next year, continued to provide the development of the specialist support and training for adult and young carers affected by autism. Identification of new carers continued to be above the expected level in this carer area.

The provision of support for older carers and carers of older people continued with funding from The Reshaping Care for Older People Change Fund. The established initiatives continued to provide support, education with strong focus on the hospital discharge processes.

Fundraising continues with donations greatly welcomed from Trustees and Friends Groups, events and the generosity of individuals.

Donations from Polmont Rotary, Larbert East Church, Forth Valley College Students, CF SLA Committee, Greenpark Quilters are among the significant donations received. The financial constraints facing our key funders are recognised and the organisation greatly appreciates the funds provided.

Close monitoring and rigorous controls continue to be applied to all spending, allowing the organisation to accomplish the provision of expected services within the continuing situation of tight financial constraints. These controls and cost monitoring resulted in a surplus which should have increased our general reserves, but a further increase in the pension liability following actuarial valuation has totally eliminated our reserves balance.

As always, we make available our Audited Accounts and Directors Report for the year to any person wishing to see them on request.
